

ABSTRACT

An assembly, and an associated method, for facilitating effectuation of a transmission power control scheme in a radio communication system, such as that defined in the IEEE 802.11 standard. Separate power schemes are defined
5 in point control function operation and distributed control function operation of the communication system. Signaling is provided between network infrastructure and mobile stations to instruct the mobile stations to generate communication signals of selected power levels.

10

2682403_1

09043956 07 FEB 2004